Front View

Top View

Note: These are the standard terms used to describe the different controller buttons. The controls for playing the game can be configured to use different button combinations, (see page 5) but in general, the Directional Buttons UP, DOWN, LEFT, and RIGHT are used to move the blocks and the △ ○ × + □ Buttons are used to rotate and drop the blocks in position.

Press the START Button to pause play and press again to continue.

HOW TO PLAY

GEOM CUBE is a simple game in which you control 3 dimensional block shapes that are made up of 1-5 cubes. The objective is to maneuver the blocks into a rectangular pit, fitting the blocks together and making sure to use all available space.

When the blocks are arranged and no empty spaces are left on a level, that level (or Face) will disappear. If all faces in the pit are eliminated, the player receives a special bonus.

There are 24 different block shapes of varying complexity — from very simple to very complex. If the blocks are not arranged in a way to fill in all the spaces, they will build up and reach the top of the pit. When the layers build up near the top of the pit, lighting will flash to warn you of your situation. If the blocks reach the top, the game ends.

NOTE: It is important to avoid leaving any empty spaces in the pit.

MODE SELECT SCREEN

1 PLAYER MODE

The 1 Player mode allows you to choose between 3 different game modes.

1 Player vs CPU: You play against a computer controlled GEOM FIGHTER. The objective is to beat the computer in a head-to-head competition. Each player must eliminate the same number of faces as well as place the same blocks into the pit. When a face is eliminated, that face is added or "thrown" to the other player's pit, forcing that player closer to the top of the pit. There are two ways to win: Force your opponent to the top of their pit or be the first to eliminate 21 faces. You must defeat the first character then move onto the remaining characters.

1 Player Finite: The objective is to clear each round. When a round is cleared, the player moves on to the next round. You may choose to start at round 1, 20, or 50. Each round may contain different pit sizes or block shapes. Each round also gets progressively more difficult. There is a total of 99 rounds in Finite Mode.

1 Player Infinite: you start play within the pit that you choose. The player has the choice between three different pit sizes (3x3x11, 4x4x11, and 5x6x11). The objective of this game is to score as many points as possible. As the game progresses, it becomes increasingly difficult and the block shapes become more complex.

2 PLAYER MODE

Two player mode is a split screen game in which you compete against another player with his or her own controller.

The 2 player game is similar to the 1 Player vs CPU game. The objective is to beat the opposing player in a head-to-head competition. Each player is given the same blocks to place within the pit and must eliminate the same number of Faces (21). When a Face is eliminated, that Face is added or "thrown" to the other player's pit, forcing that player closer to the top of his/her pit. There are two ways to win: Force your opponent to the top of their pit, or be the first to eliminate 21 faces.

Geom Fighter Core: An android that plays with precision and efficiency.

Geom Fighter KIIRIN: A mysterious fighter whose tricky moves can be devastating.

Geom Fighter Zone: You might feel as if you're winning until this robot executes a crucial move at the perfect time.

Geom Fighter Lisa: You may not understand the pattern to her movements, but you will feel the results.

Geom Prince Keith: His combination of intellect and aggressiveness often leads to victory.

Geom Queen Maria: Her unpredictable playing style may confuse her opponents, granting her the upper hand.
